A duplicate of each claim is attached in order to permit you to provide a time-stamped copy in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope. As you can see, a certificate of service is attached to each claim form and service upon counsel was made this date by express mail. I had earlier provided Proofs of Claim dated November 3, 2012. I did not serve counsel for the debtors because I misunderstood the directive that claims not be sent to debtor's counsel. I received a call from Julie at ResCap informing me that certificates of service were required. Please substitute these claims for those dated November 3, 2012 and treat these as the original claims.

Thank you for calling me to alert me to the defects in service. Please let me know if anything further is needed.

Thank you very much for your consideration

Addendum to Proofs of Claim

This addendum relates to four claims filed in this case and is attached to each of those claims. Patricia J. McNerney has claims estimated at $600,000.00 against GMAC Mortgage, LLC and Homecomings Financial, LLC. Those claims arise from a loan originated by the predecessor in interest to Homecomings Financial, LLC on or about January 3, 2003 resulting in a mortgage on her home located at 1241 Thoreau Road, Lakewood, OH 44107; and ultimately resulting in two home foreclosures based on the same loan. The first foreclosure occurred in the State of Ohio, Cuyahoga County Court of Common Pleas, Case number CV-03-514406. In that foreclosure, GMAC Mortgage, LLC and Homecomings Financial, LLC traded off as substitute plaintiffs along with Mortgage Electronic Registrations Systems Inc, also trading off the claim that they had the beneficial interest in the loan. In the end, that case was dismissed for failure to comply with a court order that the plaintiffs establish the identity of the entity who was the real party in interest at the time the case was filed.

Since that dismissal was without prejudice, Homecomings Financial LLC was not prohibited from filing a second foreclosure case, which it did in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, Eastern Division in Case Number 1:09-CV-2383.

The additional two claims against the same debtors are filed for claims of counsel for Mrs. McNerney for attorney fees incurred in the defenses to those foreclosures. Attorney fee claims arise under federal and state fee-shifting consumer statutes, including the Truth in Lending Act, the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act, the Ohio Mortgage Loan Broker Act and the Ohio Consumer Sales

Practices Act, and/or as punitive damages. Under Ohio Law the attorney fee claim is considered to belong to the attorney; as a consequence, the claims for fees related to the loan related to those foreclosures is filed directly by the attorney.

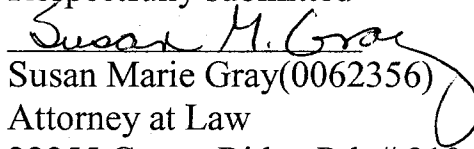

The specific claims raised as counterclaims in the foreclosure cases include claims for violations of the law, including 1501 U.S.C. Sec. 1601 in loan origination and in the rescission process, as well as wrongful foreclosure and wrongful continuation of foreclosure; negligence, gross negligence; negligent and intentional misrepresentation; fraud, unconscionable lending; civil conspiracy; violations of state consumer laws; fraud; breach of fiduciary duty and; failure to engage in loss mitigation. Under those claims Ms. McNerney seeks statutory, actual, and punitive damages as well as costs and attorney fees. These claims are all matured at the time of the filing of the case.

In addition, unmatured claims seeking sanctions under Ohio Revised Code Sec. 2323.51 will not ripen until final judgment in the pending lawsuit.

As set forth in counterclaims filed in the referenced lawsuits, the referenced debtors are liable to Ms. McNerney for damages arising from those violations of statutory and common law. Also, as pled in the counterclaims and prayers for relief, the debtors are liable to counsel for Ms. McNerney for attorney fees earned in representing her in proceedings to vindicate her rights under those statutes and as punitive damages.

Thus, the claims of Patricia J. McNerney against GMAC Mortgage, LLC and Homecomings Financial, LLC. are related because both entities were involved in the wrongful loan origination and foreclosure and those claims are also related to the two claims of Susan Marie Gray, Attorney at Law (now operating as Susan M. Gray Law Offices, Inc) against the same debtors for legal fees and costs incurred in the vindication of her rights under those statutes.

A duplicate of each claim is attached in order to permit you to provide a time-stamped copy in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope. As you can see, a certificate of service is attached to each claim form and service upon counsel was made this date by express mail. I had earlier provided Proofs of Claim dated November 3, 2012. I did not serve counsel for the debtors because I misunderstood the directive that claims not be sent to debtor's counsel. I received a call from Julie at ResCap informing me that certificates of service were required. Please substitute these claims for those dated November 3, 2012 and treat these as the original claims.

Thank you for calling me to alert me to the defects in service. Please let me know if anything further is needed.

Thank you very much for your consideration

Addendum to Proofs of Claim

This addendum relates to four claims filed in this case and is attached to each of those claims. Patricia J. McNerney has claims estimated at $600,000.00 against GMAC Mortgage, LLC and Homecomings Financial, LLC. Those claims arise from a loan originated by the predecessor in interest to Homecomings Financial, LLC on or about January 3, 2003 resulting in a mortgage on her home located at 1241 Thoreau Road, Lakewood, OH 44107; and ultimately resulting in two home foreclosures based on the same loan. The first foreclosure occurred in the State of Ohio, Cuyahoga County Court of Common Pleas, Case number CV-03-514406. In that foreclosure, GMAC Mortgage, LLC and Homecomings Financial, LLC traded off as substitute plaintiffs along with Mortgage Electronic Registrations Systems Inc, also trading off the claim that they had the beneficial interest in the loan. In the end, that case was dismissed for failure to comply with a court order that the plaintiffs establish the identity of the entity who was the real party in interest at the time the case was filed.

Since that dismissal was without prejudice, Homecomings Financial LLC was not prohibited from filing a second foreclosure case, which it did in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, Eastern Division in Case Number 1:09-CV-2383.

The additional two claims against the same debtors are filed for claims of counsel for Mrs. McNerney for attorney fees incurred in the defenses to those foreclosures. Attorney fee claims arise under federal and state fee-shifting consumer statutes, including the Truth in Lending Act, the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act, the Ohio Mortgage Loan Broker Act and the Ohio Consumer Sales

Practices Act, and/or as punitive damages. Under Ohio Law the attorney fee claim is considered to belong to the attorney; as a consequence, the claims for fees related to the loan related to those foreclosures is filed directly by the attorney.

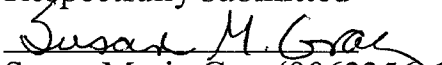

The specific claims raised as counterclaims in the foreclosure cases include claims for violations of the law, including 1501 U.S.C. Sec. 1601 in loan origination and in the rescission process, as well as wrongful foreclosure and wrongful continuation of foreclosure; negligence, gross negligence; negligent and intentional misrepresentation; fraud, unconscionable lending; civil conspiracy; violations of state consumer laws; fraud; breach of fiduciary duty and; failure to engage in loss mitigation. Under those claims Ms. McNerney seeks statutory, actual, and punitive damages as well as costs and attorney fees. These claims are all matured at the time of the filing of the case.

In addition, unmatured claims seeking sanctions under Ohio Revised Code Sec. 2323.51 will not ripen until final judgment in the pending lawsuit.

As set forth in counterclaims filed in the referenced lawsuits, the referenced debtors are liable to Ms. McNerney for damages arising from those violations of statutory and common law. Also, as pled in the counterclaims and prayers for relief, the debtors are liable to counsel for Ms. McNerney for attorney fees earned in representing her in proceedings to vindicate her rights under those statutes and as punitive damages.

Thus, the claims of Patricia J. McNerney against GMAC Mortgage, LLC and Homecomings Financial, LLC. are related because both entities were involved in the wrongful loan origination and foreclosure and those claims are also related to the two claims of Susan Marie Gray, Attorney at Law (now operating as Susan M. Gray Law Offices, Inc) against the same debtors for legal fees and costs incurred in the vindication of her rights under those statutes.
